Sister Mary Aquinata
Principal

In the transformation from physics teacher to principal, Sister Aquinata has maintained the preciseness of a scientist while administrating with vigor and graciousness. Co-ordinating the talents of the faculty and student body, she has advanced the intellectual and social development of the students to an outstanding degree. It is Sister Aquinata's kind concern for everyone, combined with her guidance and leadership that has made this ideal of co-operation a reality at Nazareth. Although her duties have been greatly altered, her interests remain the same — the mental and spiritual progress of each individual student under her care.

Sister Mary Paulita
Assistant Principal

We all extend a sincere "welcome back" to Sister Paulita, who has exchanged the gruff male voices in the labs at Notre Dame for the higher and, at times, more frantic female voices in the school office. Her calm efficient firmness, coupled with her quiet affability, remains the same even though the problems at Nieuwland and Nazareth differ. The daily annoyances and the routine duties of directing students, changing schedules, making PA announcements, or finding the owner of a lost purse seldom ruffle her composure. When Sister is not in the office, she may be scurrying through the halls carrying a copy of Scientific American, or looking for a quiet nook to prepare a lecture for the chemistry course she teaches at Rosary College. Although these various duties seem like a big order, Sister Paulita manages them all with success in her pleasing manner.

Father Conleth Fratus, O.F.M.
Chaplain

The Class of 1962 is particularly happy about one change that didn't take place this year — a change in chaplains. Senior year wouldn't be the same without Father Conleth. His informative classes, corny jokes, and raffles make a lasting impression on all of his students. There is another side of his character, however, that is more outstanding — his honesty, frankness, understanding, and generosity. Although Father works primarily with seniors, he is available for spiritual advising and conferences with any member of the student body. That's a large order, but very much in keeping with Father Conleth's policy of always giving.

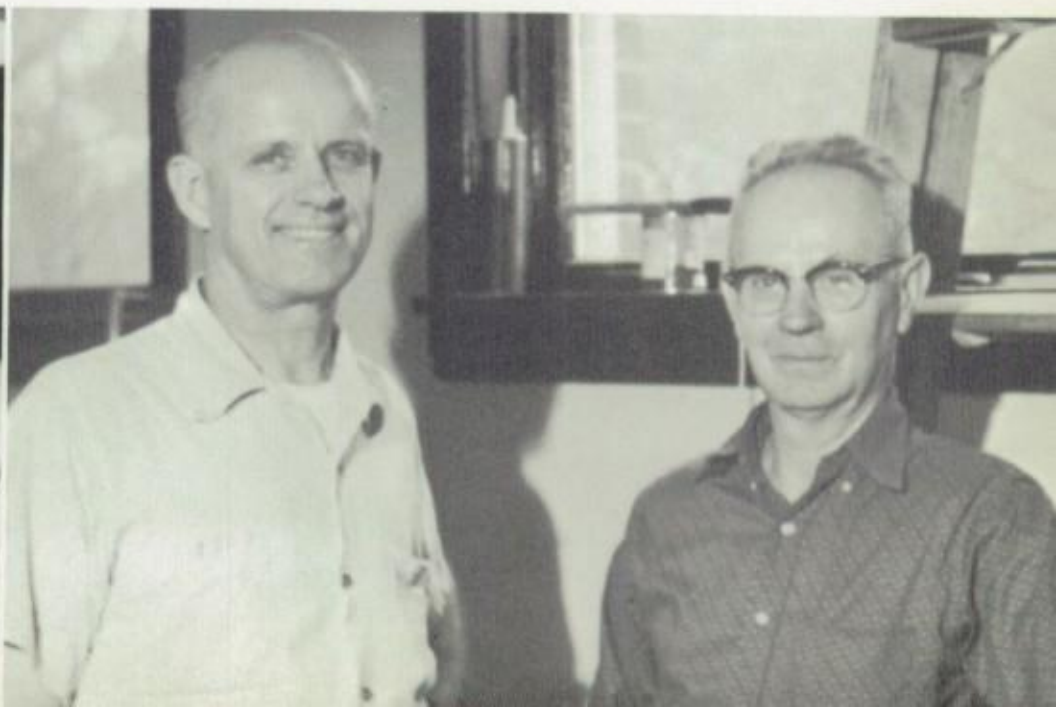
Phil Biehl, Charlie Uvival, and Gene Blanchard had stopped to chat (when Mr. Snyder wasn't looking) but soon returned to work polishing the mirror-like floors.

Ed Biehl and Mason Snyder have time for a quick smile amid the flurry of preparing the language lab for use.



Mothers' and Fathers' Auxiliary

The active interest of parents in their daughters' education is effectively channeled through the Mothers' and Fathers' Auxiliary. This organization contributes to the general well-being of Nazareth through such various activities as mixers, card parties and raffles. Nazareth Academy salutes these dedicated mothers and fathers who work behind the scene throughout the year.

On Parents' Night, March 8, Sister Mary Annette, C.S.J. was the guest speaker. She came at the invitation of the Mother's Club, the officers of which are chatting with her. From left to right, they are Mrs. Bernard Martin, Mrs. Joseph Sefferman, Mrs. Thomas Brown, (President) Mrs. George Weinrich, Mrs. William Clune, and Mrs. Alexander Walter.

Nazareth Proudly Salutes Her Jubilarians

"Time ripens all things. No man is born wise."

We were very proud to have four jubilarians at Nazareth this year. Although 25 and 50 years seem like a long time, the only signs of change in these Sisters has been an increase in their wisdom, knowledge, and understanding. The time these nuns have spent as Sisters of Saint Joseph has been most fruitful and gratifying for them and their students. They have only to look back at the great numbers of lives they have enriched, and minds they have taught and will teach in the future to realize this. They have truly merited the gratitude, esteem, and love of all who know them.

Sister Mary Aquinas Golden Jubilee

Sister Mary Aquinas' fondest memory of bygone days at Nazareth include the verdant, ivy-covered walls of Alexine Hall that then housed only 100 students. Taxis were an unknown convenience as horse drawn hacks and buses transported them home twice a year, at Christmas and finally in June.

In the days when "Glow Worm" was popular its bouncy refrains were heard echoing through the music rooms as the voices of Sister Aquinas, Sister Paul, and Mother David boomed vociferously, later causing great disgrace when their names were stricken in red from the Honor Roll for singing such a scandalous song!

Today Sister can boast of being the "First Sister in Space" which is a long way from the days that she practiced with a .22 rifle in the secret hope of becoming another Annie Oakley.

Sister Aquinas makes history at Nazareth as well as teaches it, for she has won her way into the hearts of all her students.

Sister Mary Paul Golden Jubilee

Sister Paul recalls when Alexine Hall stood alone, and even though there was a grammar school and a high school under one roof, there seemed to be empty rooms to study (or to hide) in. But that was in 1907 when there were only 7 graduates in her class.

Like many another nun, her habit has created several amusing incidents. Sister Paul likes to talk about the time she and a companion were riding a train during the war. She noticed that the little boy across the aisle was staring at them. He was evidently Red Cross-conscious, because as he pointed at their heads, he asked his mother in a loud, husky voice about their "bandage." She explained hastily that the Sisters were not injured!

When she isn't teaching Spanish, Sister Paul likes to spend her leisure time at cards, jigsaw puzzles, and reading.

Sister Mary Aquinata Silver Jubilee

In the years between the time she was a student and then principal at Nazareth, Sister Aquinata has witnessed the great changes in curriculum. When she was in school, only two years of a language were offered, and shorthand and typing were required ("How I hated that!"), and — there was no physics!

Sister will never forget her experiences as Dean of residents, especially the fire drills, when half the girls were in the showers. As principal now, her spare time has been drastically cut, but she likes cooking (especially making salads), searching for fossils, and star-gazing on the roof with Sister Paulita. Her particular interest, which unfortunately time no longer permits, was teaching in the Mississippi missons during the summer.

Sister Miriam Rose Silver Jubilee

Her earliest days as a teacher at Nazareth are most vivid to Sister Miriam Rose, since, she says, she spent most of them wandering through the halls looking for a classroom for her music students. She also remembers that music was a non-credit subject at the time. When she first came to Nazareth, the music rooms were on the second floor, and the chapel and the assembly hall were on the fourth. What is now the kitchen she remembers vividly as a cafeteria for 400 girls!

When Sister has a spare moment, she enjoys not only her music, but also working crossword puzzles and playing ping-pong.

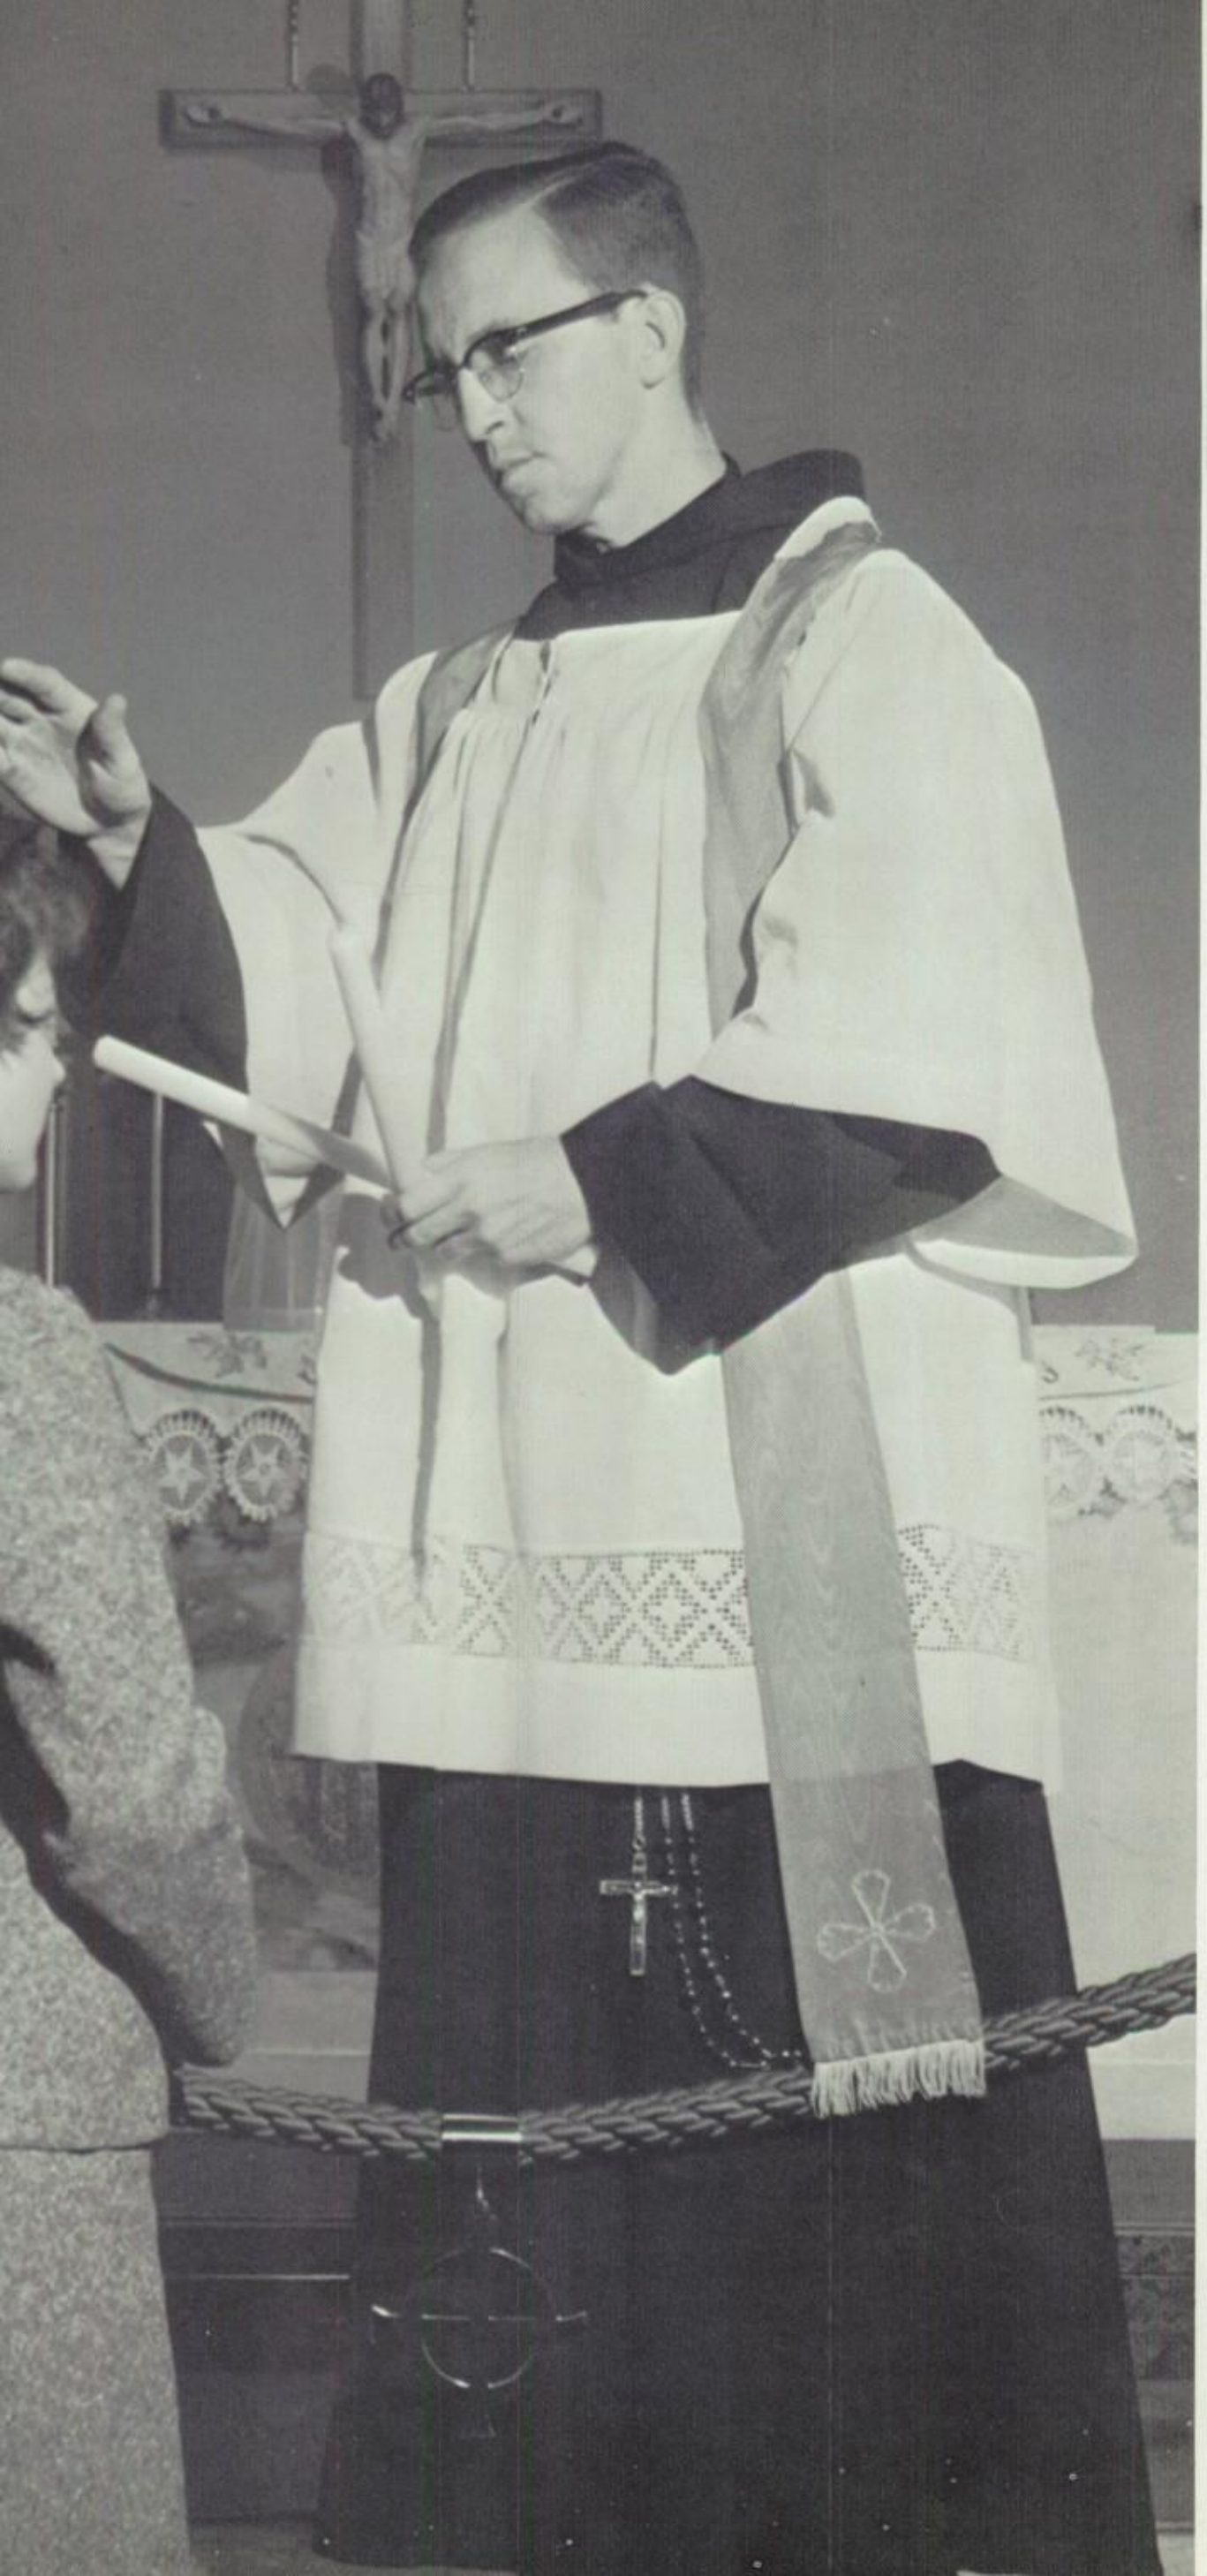
English

Using modern dance techniques in word interpretation, reclassifying classics, and skimming along with SRA, Nazareth girls find English courses alive and imaginative. Rafting down the Mississippi with Huck Finn, reliving the pomp and desolation of Tolstoy's epic novel, War and Peace, or probing the motives of Hester, Arthur and Roger; all these enhance the enjoyment of the study of English literature. It is a sharing — a sharing of thoughts, criticisms, appreciation — a sharing of the universal ideas of the past by those who will build the future.

VITALITY

Religion

The great number of girls who include a visit to the chapel in their daily schedules is evidence that religion is a vital part of the Nazareth curriculum. As the student gradually absorbs dogma, theory, and moral codes, she begins to realize that religion is more than Sunday Mass or fish on Friday; it is the sum total of God's love for man, and man's duties toward God. During these formative years, a rich and meaningful insight to her faith is acquired which will enable today's Catholic girl to become tomorrow's Catholic leader.



Science

During the feverish days of the annual science fair the gym swarms with frenzied exhibitors assembling their projects. This, however, is not the usual habitat of the science student. She may be found in one of the laboratories working tirelessly over a formaldahyde-soaked worm, slit from posterior to anterior; a pulley system precariously strung; or glass stirring rods clinking in beakers of vile-colored mixtures, while KClO3 bubbles in the preparation of oxygen. These phenomena are but a few of the many studies in which the student strives to answer the everyday queries of when, why, or how.

CHIMP BACK AFTER ORB

Language

Quis? Was? ¿Dónde? Pourquoi?

Amid this type of confusion the rewards of language study sometimes seem remote. As the student flounders in a sea of grammatical obstacles, she clutches desperately at her translating dictionary and tries vainly to remember if the adjective comes before or after the noun. Yet she knows the anxious but exciting moments spent waiting for Latin contest results, the fun of French or German club parties and the satisfaction of singing folk songs in fluent Spanish. The foreign language courses, and the cultural background material included in them, enable the student to partake of the rich and fascinating heritage of her fellow world citizens.

Home Economics

A dash of salt, a pinch of paprika, one final stir and another succulent dish has been created in the foods lab. Meanwhile, sewing students skillfully cut, baste, and sew various skirts, dresses or suits in preparation for the annual fashion show. Besides information and experience, the home-ec department provides the students with background knowledge of foods and fabrics, which contributes to the preparation of the homemakers of tomorrow. The whirring of sewing machines and mixmasters complement each other and assure proficiency in the field of home economics.

Art

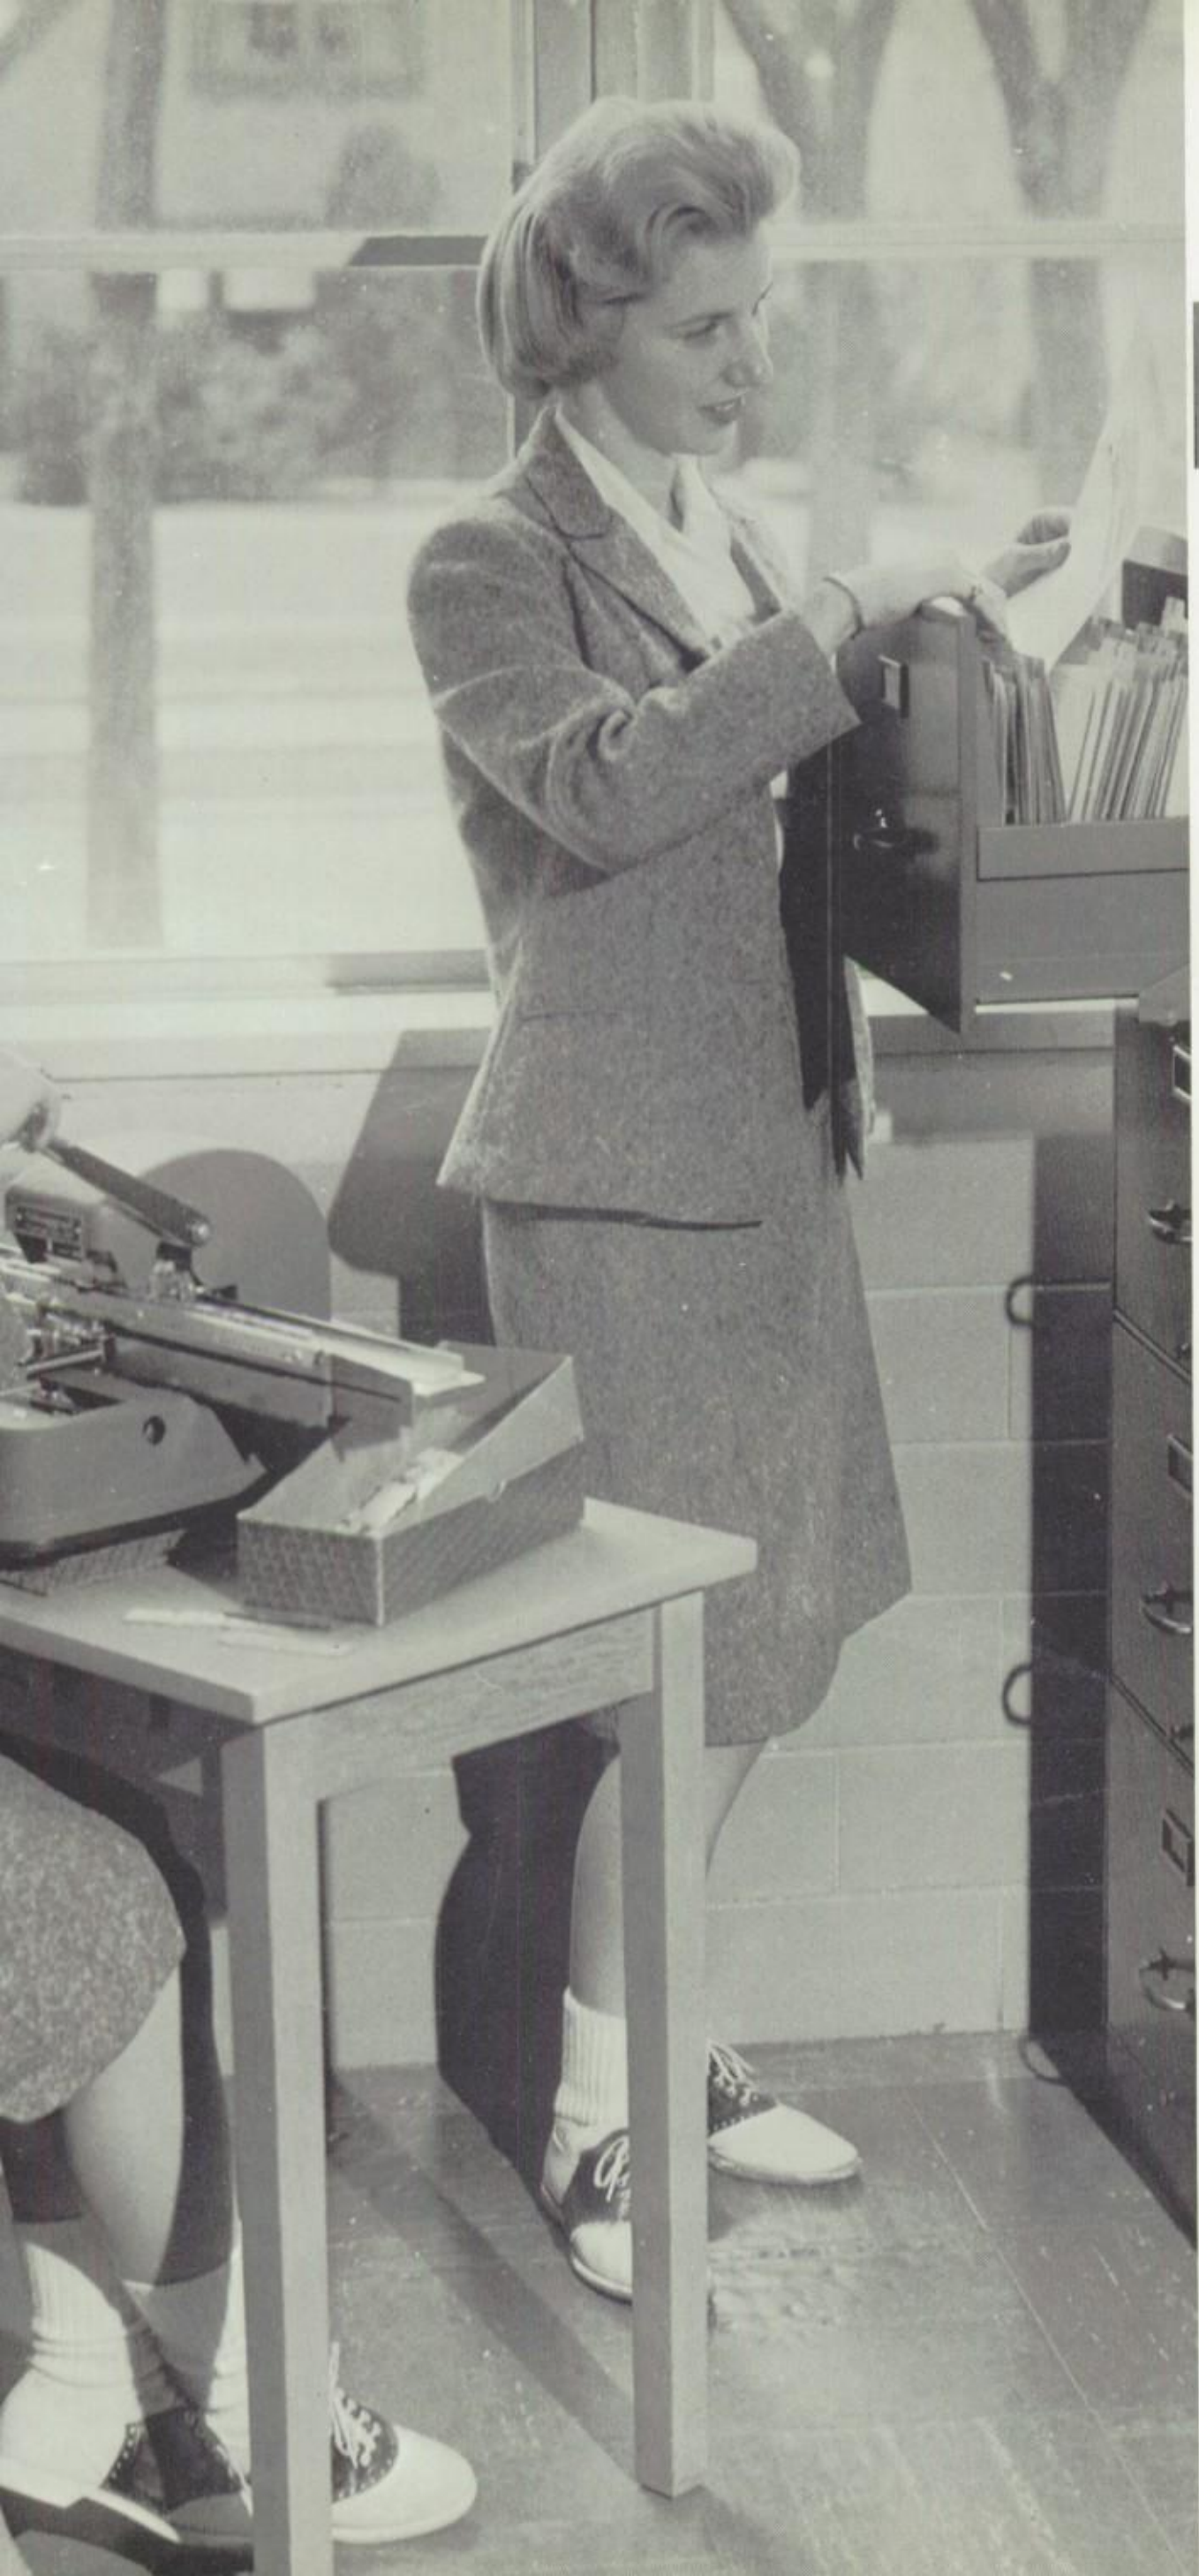
As sure as crocus is a sign of spring, the emergence of the screens in room 205 is the signal that Nazareth's annual art exhibition is unfolding. The preparation began in September when enthusiastic students with clean hands and uniforms, uncut fingers and unbroken fingernails first entered the room where they met the challenge of dribbling water colors, tricky metal tooling and dripping melted crayon. These artists learn many techniques to form a basis for future specialization in the fields of illustration and cartooning, or to become expert decorators and furnishers of their own homes.

Social Studies

B.C. or A.D. It makes no difference to the social studies student who delves into the civilizations of the past and present. Term papers almost become easy and the library becomes a second home as she unravels the problems of man. Whether tracing the history of the bloody French Revolution and its "Madame Guillotine," or the endless struggles of capitol and labor, or learning of the patriot who shouted, "Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes," she is trained to live with a fuller understanding of the world around her. For it is by the mistakes of the past that she learns the answers of the future.

Commercial

While the rhythm of a two-hand exercise resounds through the classroom, typists look in vain for meaning in a string of a;sldkfjgh. Gradually the letters fall into patterns and the goal is no longer merely sense but speed. Future stenographers with cramped fingers strive to keep up with the rapid dictation, and a look of despair appears on the furrowed forehead as the speed increases to 120 words per minute. Nearby the thud of the mimeograph machine keeps in pace with the tempo of the robotyper and paper folder. Skills acquired here will be invaluable in the student's future whether it be in business or college.

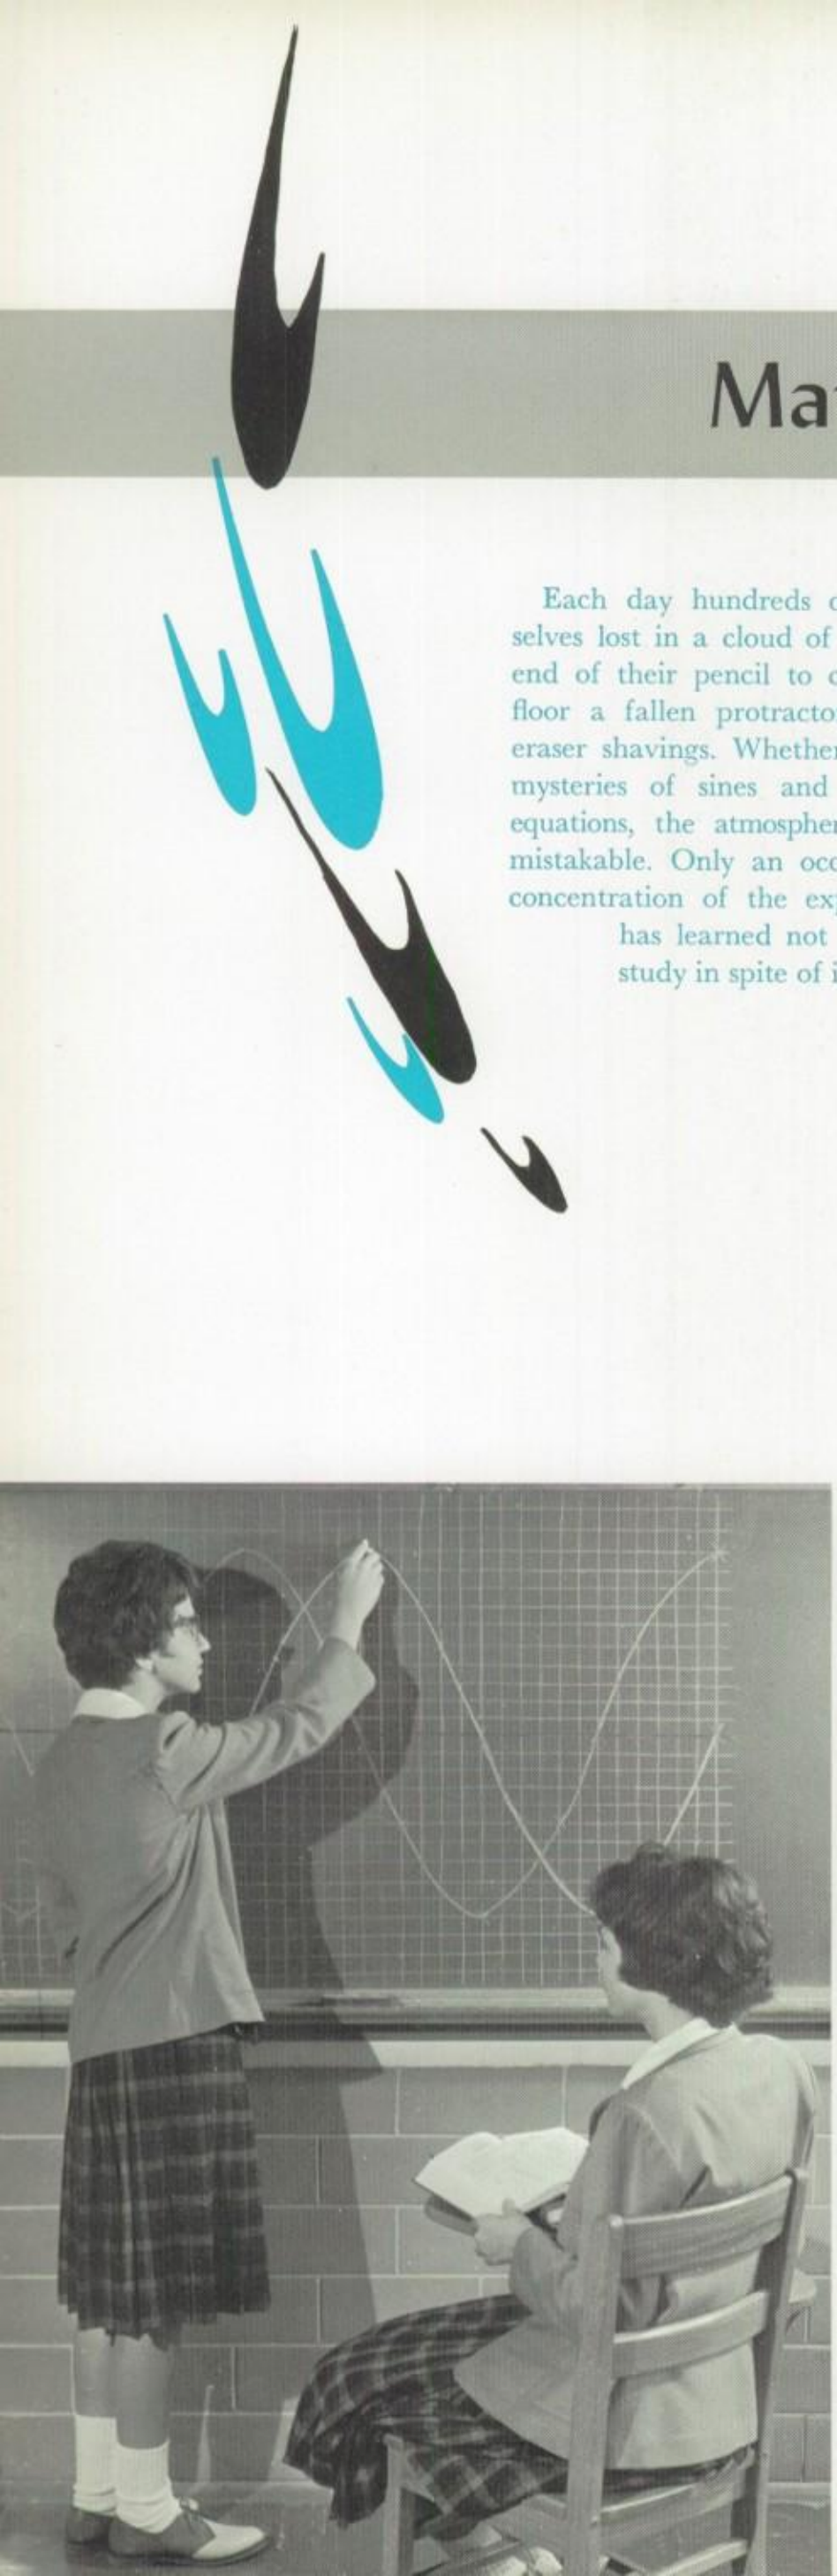


Music

The lilting echoes of a Bach minuet steal through the halls as the agile fingers of a pianist, striving for perfection, skim across the keyboard. Silence reigns momentarily but the brisk tap of a baton rouses vibrating strings, flashing brass, and mellow woodwinds into a crescendo of notes. The melodious voices of the Choral Club blend, singing many things from Negro spirituals to modern Broadway show tunes. These things are but a few which are found in the music department, where students learn to appreciate harmony.

Mathematics

Each day hundreds of dazed students find themselves lost in a cloud of chalk dust, wondering which end of their pencil to chew. Here and there on the floor a fallen protractor lies under a sprinkling of eraser shavings. Whether the class is delving into the mysteries of sines and cosines, simple or complex equations, the atmosphere of the math room is unmistakable. Only an occasional sigh breaks the deep concentration of the experienced math student who has learned not to fight bewilderment but to study in spite of it.



PROCEED
TROUBLE NUMBERS

Physical Education

"All right, Robin Hood, get it out of the tree!" "What do you mean you're tired after only twenty push-ups!" Sound familiar? Of course it does, since every quasi-archer and physically fit girl at NA has heard it some time. Perhaps a desire for increased agility developed during a record breaking smash toward the wrong goal or a depressing strike-out at home plate. But gradually, well-coordinated teams are formed, and with every swish of the pom-pom our blue and white clad cheerleaders excite both audience and team to "get that spirit." Yet, it's not only winning that is important, but also competing in a spirit of vigorous sportsmanship.

Seventy-Booth Language Laboratory

Louis Lavaur

The opening of the newly completed language laboratory was celebrated October 24, 1961, as students donned the native costumes of France, Germany, and Spain. After an impressive dedication ceremony, the entire student body was entertained by a medley of songs presented by the modern language students. Several distinguished guests, including the Honorable Harold Collier, Representative to the United States Congress; M. Jean Ortoli, Deputy Consul General of France; Horst Berenz, Consul of the German Federal Republic; and Louis Lavaur of the Spanish Government Tourist Office pointed out the importance of foreign languages in the modern world.

The language lab has been a tremendous help in developing the students' sensitivity to the nuances of a foreign tongue. On any day the reverberating sounds of German, French, and Spanish can be heard echoing through the corridors as the students work toward proficiency in accent and grammar. This latest is a notable advance in Nazareth's educational facilities. Its benefits are already visible in the fluent speaking students whose progress attests to the effectiveness of the language laboratory.

Senior Class

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Merry Ann Stitzer, Secretary; Donna Douglas, President; Sister Christopher, Moderator; Nancy McGuire, Vice President; Elizabeth Gordon, Treasurer.

Patience reaps fulfillment. The much anticipated senior year arrived with a breath of excitement mingled with pride, and fast unfolds into a complexity of activity. Midst the lively pace of studies, clubs, college entrance tests, and job applications, senior year is a climax and a threshold. From this vantage point the senior surveys the past. The underclassmen are constant reminders of her own stepwise advancement, years at Nazareth which hold memories, experiences, and friendships now integral to life itself. The senior envisions the future, as the bitter-sweet note of graduation draws the year to a close. Four years of expansion in knowledge, wisdom, and character render each graduate well prepared to embark on a new phase of existence.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society distinguishes a senior as a student of outstanding academic ability, meritorious service to her school, leadership, and participation in social as well as cultural and intellectual activities. Membership in the National Honor Society is the culmination of four years of study, character development, and service to Nazareth Academy.

MARLENE WIECZOREK ... English, Math, Science, Latin ... Science-Math Club 1,2,3; Discussion Club 3,4; Alexine Staff 4 ... big black blob ... the exaulted homeroom ... JFK ... physics seminars ... Sister Paulita and the P.A. announcements ... Sister Joanne and imagination ... MMBP ... singed locks, frayed wires, cracked calorimeters ... supercillious, vindictive, punctillious, misogynist ... to complete Einstein's Unified Field Theory.

KATHLEEN WINTER ... English, History, Latin ... Legion of Mary 3; GAA 1,2; Booster Club 2 ... the terrifying and distracting wasps in Algebra 1 ... an eccentric laugh ... "Oh, my!" ... the intriguing aspect of world history — homeroom 23 ... to make her parents proud of her.

ROSEMARY WOLINSKI ... English, History ... Legion of Mary 1,3,4, President 1; GAA 3 ... "Harbor Lights" ... 'specially special junior year ... gym homeroom and Sister Laurence — a sporting good time ... Rosie ... Mrs. Cichon makes history live ... insurance saleswoman and a dream come true.

SUSAN WONDRASEK ... English, Math, Latin, Art ... Sodality 1,2; GAA 1,4; Legion of Mary 3,4; Alexine Rep 1 . . ."Ah so!" ... Sister Joan Marie's square roots ... wool and a blue uniform ... Italy in Latin ... open houses ... lost campaign speech ... aspires to become a second Picasso or a second Vergil.

ROBERTA YANK ... English, Math, Latin, History ... Sodality 2,3,4; Choraliers 2,3,4, Secretary 4; Choral Club 4, Vice-President 4; Drama Club 4; Future Nurses' Club 3; Alexine Rep 3 ... first DT: because she couldn't see ... Sister Florence Marie's interesting Italians ... "I canna' say" ... Bobbie would love to live up in the North Woods of Alaska.

ROSE MARIE YEAGER ... English, Spanish, History ... Future Nurses' Club 3 . . ."Oh, I can't wait 'til Friday!" ... a slippery desk and then on the floor ... Ring Day ... Freshman Algebra in 38 ... "Rosie" wants to become a legal secretary ... then marriage.

MARILYN YURIK ... English, Math, Science, Latin ... Future Nurses' Club 3; GAA 4; Young Americans for Freedom, Inc. 4 ... Connee ... little Cashew nut ... "the geometry kid" ... flunco, fluncere, flunci, flunctus ... Bugology in 318 ... Merle's lunch table is still laughing over her strange cackle ... she'll never charge through the halls as a nurse.

OLGA ZACHELMAYER ... English, Spanish, Commercial ... Sodality 1; Cheerleading 1; GAA 1,3,4; Guidance Clerk 4 ... SCA dance; "C'est Magnifique" ... lively GAA overnights ... all those memorable trips to Gino's ... Judy and the Jungle crisis ... Uncle Bumps ... aching feet on Ring Day ... Terry's future, a confidential secretary.

JUDITH ANN ZALUD ... English, History ... Sodality 1,2,3,4; Student Librarian 2,3,4; GAA 1,4; Riding Club 4; Orchestra 1,2,3,4, Secretary 1, Treasurer 4 ... many a dreary Monday morning ... drumming for "The King and I" ... fizzies ... 36 — freshman year, literature and laughs ... Judy's challenge: social work or the field of psychology.

This is their last spring at Nazareth.

JACQUELYN JOY ZANDREWS ... English, Math ... Sodality 1,2,3,4; GAA 1,2,3,4; Science-Math Club 1,2; Drama Club 3; Student Leader 3,4; Student Librarian 3; Guidance Clerk 4; Riding Club 2,3 ... "The Madwoman of Chaillot" ... Italian beef sandwiches and Mexican hot tamales ... "Miss Jackie" ... S.S.C.A. ... Chinatown ... lively closed retreats ... everlasting science fairs ... lay missionary work abroad.

SANDRA LEE ZELENKA ... English, Commercial ... GAA 1; Cisca Staff 3 ... those St. Philip dances ... "Don't worry!" ... Miss Migava has a special place in Sandi's heart ... Sister Laurence ... Ambition — to transcribe 120 words a minute without an error as a legal secretary.

CAROL ANN ZEMAN ... Commercial, English ... Bowling League 4 ... the rush to make those homeroom ticket quotas ... that combination button Carol's friends served her with ... wonderful long-hoped-for assemblies ... "Holy Smoke!" ... friends made at N.A. ... a career in the business world.

BARBARA ZUBA ... English, History ... Student Librarian 3; Bowling League 4 ... homeroom 305 with Miss Skopeck and all the time she took with "her freshman" ... those "hump" days ... Mrs. Cichon, who taught Barb to really study ... to teach grade school children and then her own.

Addresses Graduates

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Jeanne Tavormina, President; Sue Kempfer, Vice President; Sister Maureen Therese, Moderator; Jo Ellen Karstens, Secretary; Jeanne Neu, Treasurer.

Junior Class

The virtue of Charity, Moby Dick, logarithms, and Cicero may seem like a lot all in one gulp, but spread over a period of ten months, the junior digests it all. She takes tests from the teachers and advice from the seniors, and finds encouragement in the promise of better things to come. Ring Day brings her the long awaited glory which she feels is well deserved after many weeks of frantic preparation and anticipation. As junior year draws to a close, she begins to get an inkling of what the seniors were talking about and is still anxious to rush into the fray.

Sophomore Class

Sophomore year is filled with growing pains? Indeed, sophomore year is much more. It is the fantasy of Camelot, the pre-conceived dread of worm dissection, the complexity of angle bisections, the fighting of Caesar's Gallic Wars, the making of grass shacks and low ceilings. The sight of familiar rooms, teachers, friends, and busdrivers draws a smile of confidence as the sophomore finds herself a part of Nazareth. Booklets, tests, quizzes, tests, oral talks — the flurry of the year's activity seems never-never ending. As an example and a comforter for distressed freshmen, the sophomore drowns her own problems in a sea of big sisterliness. Yes, sophomore year is filled with big sisterliness.

Freshman Class

Sporting freshly acquired pleats and plaids, the innocent freshman thrills to her new life at N.A. Though she is baffled by the intricacies of filling out a pass to the nurse's office and periodically forgets her locker combination, she quickly learns to distinguish Sister Kathleen from Sister Laurence and, having accomplished this, her indoctrination as a Nazareth girl is well under way. While freshman year is often full of amusing intrigue, it is nevertheless a very important time of acclimation to the adult world. By year's end the freshman's self-consciousness has been replaced by self-confidence and she is ready and anxious to leave her mark in the annals of Nazareth.

The Alexine Representatives

What is an Alexine rep? Why she's banker, publicist, psychologist, bookkeeper, artist, friendly persuader, and above all, loyal Nazareth student. She has to be. Besides possessing the many talents mentioned above, she must have a sense of responsibility and a desire for work. We owe all reps a debt of gratitude for their unsung heroics.

SENIOR ALEXINE REPS: (TOP ROW) E. Lolli, R. d'Ouville, M. Vrtis, T. Taaffe, H. Petek, (BOTTOM ROW) M. Jevitz, J. Froncek, R. Wolinski, R. Bahovec, E. Nadjer

JUNIOR ALEXINE REPS: (TOP ROW) S. Rimas, H. Brown, A. Schnaubelt, C. Wolta, A. Kurtz, (BOTTOM ROW) J. Glander, M. Hendricks, A. Ludera, J. Pucilo

Alexine Staff

Carol Swezenski, Editor-in-Chief; Judy Povilus, Business Manager; Judy Pristo, Assistant to the Editor; Diann Musial, Photography Editor.

It's Monday night at Nazareth. From across the street lights can be seen burning in room 326 and, with binoculars — yes, that is a pizza! But working on the Alexine staff isn't all pizzas and cream.

Take the editor-in-chief. Carol had to re-do the cover several dozen times before it met our strict standards of excellence, and all the while she remained the co-ordinating force behind all our activities.

Others were equally harassed. The semi-official "biography staff" — Maria, Marlene, Beatrice, and Pauline — had to make some sense out of jumbled information sheets and dampen the enthusiasm of those who would "marry an admiral and raise a fleet." As for Diann, the photography editor, it was "take a picture, drag Mr. Holub, take a picture, drag Mr. Holub."

As little notes arrived special delivery in our second period classes, we regretfully opened them only to find that the senior class copy was due fourth period! Later, while proofreading copy, we found that many typewriters had a tendency to skip spaces, make m's for n's, and (believe it or not) make grammatical errors, too.

But we're not really complaining. If you enjoy reading the 1962 Alexine half as much as we enjoyed writing it, our work will have been successful.

Announcer Staff

Don't let these pictures of the Announcer staff fool you. Its members are not as cool, calm, and collected as they look — they just pretend to be that way. If they took off their masks you'd hear something like this: "Who took my article?" "It's right behind you." "Gaby, it won't fit!" "Say, I like this article! It's really cute." "Carm, how many words did you say equal a line?" "I'm going to count to ten. If everyone isn't quiet, then . . ." "Who can type?" "Listen, everyone . . ." "Sue! Lora! this picture is the wrong size." "Has anyone an ink eraser? Thank you. I am indebted to you for the rest of my life." "How do you spell . . .?" "All in favor of burning the printer in effigy say 'aye'."

Thus ends a day in the life of the Announcer staff.

Student Council

A representative from each homeroom and a representative-at-large from each of the four classes make up the Nazareth Student Council. This extremely important organization has as its objectives a better student-faculty relationship, the development of school policies and standards, and the making and enforcing of laws necessary for the betterment of the school and the individual. Some of the new duties and achievements of the Student Council this year were the supervision of lunch hours, organizing all dance equipment and decorations into one storeroom, and raising money for a trophy case with the profits from the student-faculty volleyball game.

Guidance Committee

Another branch of the department is the Senior Guidance Committee. These girls met during the summer and compiled a handbook which explained pertinent facts about N.A. life to many a "bewildered" freshman. They also plan informative panel discussions and "pep talks" for underclassmen interested in college.

Since the "Wit and Wig" was begun in 1960 it has been one of the very active organizations at Nazareth. Requirements for membership are rigid: each candidate presents a prepared audition which is judged by the moderator and the officers. From the ranks of this club Nazareth draws the main body of crew members for the operetta and contestants for the Northern Illinois Unit Drama Festival, the Central Region Convention of the National Catholic Theatre Conference, and the Illinois High School Association Speech Contest. The members are working toward membership in the National Thespian Troupe.

These enthusiasts seem to thrive on activity. Besides visiting loop theaters to see current plays during the year, they presented an evening of one-act plays which they produced and directed. "Early Frost" was directed by Kathy Tvrdik, "Crime Chamber" by BeeJay Moran, "More Perfect Union" by Marietta Geppert, and "The Plum Tree" by Joan Slosar.

Nazareth has proved itself capable of presenting not only musical comedies but also Greek tragedies such as this year's performance of "Electra," which brought scholarships to Jo Ann Clemento, Peggy O'Hara and Kathy Reed, the three outstanding players.

At the Midwest Vocation Conference held in McCormick Place, Nazareth staged an excellent production of "Brighten Every Corner." Sister Mary Gordon, the director, can well be proud of the cast of characters and the colorful supporting chorus.

Five Nazareth girls placed in the Illinois Speech Contest this year. Jeanette Tonne received a first award for a dramatic cutting from Macbeth. Second awards were won by Arlene Jara, who read "My Last Duchess," Mary Margaret Leonard, who played a five year old named "Sally," BeeJay Moran, who portrayed the two old aunts in a cutting from Arsenic and Old Lace, and Sue Rusk, who delivered an oration on loneliness.

Members of the cast of "Brighten Every Corner": Mary Ann Fieg as Jean, Peg O'Hara as Sister Martha, and Phil Cain as the undertaker.

At a rehearsal for "Brighten Every Corner," "Sister" Peg O'Hara chats with Karen Jason, Kerri Whitner, Sue Rusk and Sue Clune.

The cast of "Electra" included Peg O'Hara as Clytemnestra, Kathy Reed as Chrysothomus, and (STANDING) Jo Ann Clemento as Electra, and Beejay Moran as the Tutor.

Hope, and then pride, were the two pervading sensations at NA during the second and third weeks of November, as opening night drew near. We hoped that Meg would get her voice back, that the scrim would dry on time, that Mr. Beaton's cart wouldn't collapse on stage. Then: "We did it! They loved it!" echoed back stage as the cast took six curtain calls. For a time the whole school had visited this misty Scottish village, learning how fast an attachment for a place like Brigadoon grows. Soon the correct reply to any question was, "I dinna know," or better, "I canna say." The town of Brigadoon traditionally fades into the highland mist, but the memory of this colorful operetta will remain vivid in our minds.

String Ensemble

We're all in our places with bright shining faces. Sister Ricardo, our fiddling pied piper, gathered us from N.A.'s junior and senior orchestras — violins, violas, cellos, and one lonely bass. We made our debut to the student body at the Christmas program and bowed once again at the Spring Concert.

Orchestra

One of the many advantages the orchestra members enjoy is learning to feel satisfaction and pleasure in the sounds of music which they play. Daily fifth period practice is supplemented by hours of individual work in preparation for Friday solos. Mr. Pitera's quips, his cheery opening, "Ein, zwei, spiel," and the "Group" with their bubble accompaniment are only a few of this year's memories. Who will ever forget "Canadian Sunset" and the medley from The Sound of Music? The orchestra played for Brigadoon, the annual Spring Concert, and completed the Christmas celebration by playing both carols and popular selections.

Piano Repertoire Class

The thirty girls in this group have gained proficiency in appearing before an audience as they play classic, romantic, and contemporary compositions. A Bach minuet, Schumann's "Romance" or Kabelevsky's "Youth Concerto" provide impetus for the budding pianists to express themselves.

CHORAL CLUB: The juniors and seniors who are members of Choral Club are occupied continuously with musical matters. In addition to meeting daily, they perform in various diversified programs with a professional polish that has won them recognition in many competitive events. Their activities range from singing for the operetta to their participation in the Christmas program, making them one of the most popular organizations. In fact, whenever a Nazareth girl feels the urge to "sing along," her inspiration has often been provided by the Choral Club.

SOPH-TONES: This year the Soph-tones have displayed their newfound musical ability in various areas. Capturing the audience with Brigadoon's overture, entertaining the student body at Christmas, and caroling their way through Mac Neal Memorial Hospital, they also were privileged guests at Junior Ring Day and Senior Graduation Mass where they sang for the two upper classes.

These sophomores have found that music can bring a smile to the lips, and a song to the heart.

STUDENT LIBRARIAN OFFICERS: A. Krenek, president; N. Kohout, vice-president; B. Baukert, treasurer; M. Fencl, secretary.

STUDENT LIBRARIANS: The student librarians are an important factor in maintaining an efficient, organized library. Not only do they check out and shelve books, but they willingly provide questioning students with all the information that is available to them. They sponsor the faculty tea and the book fair, yet still find time to help Sister Rita with alumnae work and correspondence with local newspapers about events at Nazareth.

Those who volunteer to work for the student librarian organization are not only obtaining valuable experience, but also performing an indispensable service to their school.

Drifting and Dreaming

Smiling faces, gleaming eyes, and an air of gaiety and relaxation seem a welcome contrast to the frenzied hours of preparation which make each Nazareth dance an evening to remember. Rolls of crepe-paper, pairs of snapping scissors, and endless bottles of Elmer's Glue, transform basketball nets and bleachers into a glimmering world of moonlit cities, enchanting tropical islands and a merry carousel in the sky. The willingness with which the students donate their artistic abilities reveals the spirit and cooperation of Nazareth girls.

Besides visiting local hospitals, attending lectures, and having access to an abundant supply of literature, these girls are also introduced to some basic nursing techniques which they will actually use in their future work. With such excellent guidance and opportunities, the complete fulfillment of this dream is not far off.

FUTURE TEACHERS' CLUB: Many juniors and seniors who are seriously considering teaching as a career, have learned more about their individual field through various lectures and discussions in the newly established Future Teachers' Club. The busy members drew up their constitution, had guest speakers, gave a faculty tea, and often took over classes or study halls in the absence of a teacher.

Sodality

A Way

The Sodality of Our Lady has come to mean a variety of things to Nazareth. Foremost, of course, it represents Mary herself, the primary patroness of all Sodalities and focus of Sodalist attention. In addition, it may bring to mind lunch hour bake sales and cake raffles, First Friday silence campaigns, rosary in the chapel, and the annual May crowning.

SENIOR SODALITY OFFICERS: M. Solkowski, recording secretary; S. Kehoe, corresponding secretary; L. Laski, Sodality Union delegate; M. Purvin, treasurer; J. Povilus, vice-prefect; A. Hebert, prefect.

To the Sodalist, Sodality brings memories of Tuesday night meetings, reception ceremonies in the chapel, closed retreat, hours spent stuffing and sewing Christmas stockings, and trips to Catholic charity institutions. Below the surface Sodality is much more; it is a way of living which permeates every day of the Sodalist's life.

Legion of Mary Praesidia

"To visit the sick . . . to clothe the naked . . . to instruct the ignorant . . ." The Works of Mercy are the bywords of the Legion of Mary, an organization of the lay apostolate that works throughout the world for the spread of the Catholic Church and the betterment of her members. This year our four praesidia undertook many worthwhile projects, which include teaching catechism in Sunday schools, visiting the old and sick, helping out at St. Joseph's after school, and running magazine drives for the Sacred Heart Home.

After graduation, many of these girls will join Senior Legion groups, effectively serving God and their fellow man in their own parishes.

OFFICE HELP: Answering insistent telephones and buzzing doorbells, running errands, delivering endless messages, and calming over-wrought freshmen are several of the tasks that the students helping in the office perform daily. By giving their time and assistance, these girls help maintain the efficiency of our smooth-running school office.

HALL GUARDS: A hasty glance down any stretch of Nazareth corridors is bound to turn up at least one hall guard. Each period of the day she can be found sitting staunchly at her lonely post like the stout-hearted soul that she is. She runs errands, delivers messages, and is an all-around guide to stray students and visitors.

Although she is rarely called upon to put down rebellion, or even mild insurrection, she performs the valuable service of keeping law and order in the halls.

Discussion Club

Michaelangelo, Tchaikovsky, Van Gogh, Aristotle, Plutarch, and Rousseau — all are now more fully appreciated by the Junior-Senior Discussion Club. Aiming for a broad cultural foundation, the members have familiarized themselves with these great minds through the study of the works they have produced. A knowledge of the past is the key to the future.

German Club

The main objective of the German Club is to awaken an interest in the customs and culture of the German-speaking people through films, guest speakers, and excursions. A few activities included visiting the German Consulate-General, a German film theatre, sampling "die deutsche Küche," and participating in a nation wide contest.

This year's officers are: President, G. Doppelfeld; Vice-President, P. Hoening; Treasurer, V. Pieprzak; Recording Secretary, D. Guertner.

In and Out of the Gym

Keeping physically fit does have its rewards, as many happy athletes found this year. It took patience, training, and some fast splashing in Rosary's pool, but N.A. swimmers won second place in state competition. All the practice sessions seemed worth while to the archers when, in spite of a rough wind, they walked off with third place in state-wide competition.

Science Fair

When she says that the moon is made of green cheese, she can PROVE it!

"If he lays one finger on it I'll . . ."

"It's GREEK to me, too!"

Cages were set up, solutions boiled, charts and books piled high as anxious students once again prepared for NA's Science Fair. On March 7th frenzied students set up their exhibits which ranged from "The Enzymatic Hydrolysis of Lipids" to "Boolean Algebra" Thirty-three judges assisted at the fair awarding thirty-three firsts, thirty-three seconds, and nine thirds. The Firsts are now eligible to participate in the fair at the Amphitheatre and then at the University of Illinois in Champaign.

The knowledge gained from doing a project can never be fully appreciated. It enables the student to think on her own, as well as study and do individual research. 1962 has seen the close of another Science Fair, but surely it won't be the last.

Juniors Sparkle on Ring Day

Mrs. Wolta and her daughter Carol share a moment of pride and pleasure.

Looks like it's contagious.

Hmph! Well, I guess it's not bad — for a girl's ring.

Ring Day was THE day for the juniors. The High Mass, sung by the Choral Club, and the presentation of the rings were the highlights of that memorable Friday, March 2. Besides her ring, each girl received a broad smile and warm congratulations from Sister Aquinata. The mothers and fathers who were present beamed as their daughters walked across the stage with their long-awaited treasures.

This year for the first time, the juniors were dismissed immediately after receiving their rings. They spent the balance of the day celebrating. Many went to movies and plays after sumptuous dinners, dressed in their gay, spring finery. In the morning, the conversation had been, "O Carol, your suit is gorgeous! Sue, your hat is so chic!" But later, one could overhear, "Don't you feel grown up? Am I ever proud of my ring!"

They are all proud to have formally become a part of Nazareth Academy, and, as the Junior Class president said, will always wear their rings, not only on their hands, but in their hearts.

One more girl and we could have a maypole dance.

Put your hand down, Laur, he's pointing it at us!

Ah! Now for the hike back to my seat.

Retreat and Guidance Priests

Rev. Richard Fassbinder
St. Hugh, Lyons

The priest-counselors from neighboring parishes sacrifice two or three hours each week from their parish work or from their own free time to come to Nazareth.

Here, in rooms 119, 121, and 20, they offer moral and religious guidance through personal conferences to each girl.

We thank them for devoting time to us, and we appreciate their friendliness and their valuable help.

"Okay, okay, Sister. I promise never to wear a bouffant style again!"

And This, too, Is Nazareth

Seniors can't resist a few more minutes in the warm autumn sun . . .

Exodus

The Spring Fashion Show brings an end to a busy year.

Can this be it — so soon?

Senior History

It seems like only a short time ago that we first came to Nazareth as green freshmen. We soon became busy making new friends, planning schedules, and just plain old adjusting to the routine. The maze of corridors gradually became familiar as we rushed to classes in a breath-taking three minutes. We anxiously awaited the traditional Kith n' Kin in our desire to put into use the techniques we learned in Miss Culkin's Charm Course. Or maybe we acquired a mild case of poison ivy during the Freshman Class picnic!

Before we realized it we were sophomores. No longer insecure, we returned to many familiar faces and scenes, perhaps a little too sure of ourselves, only to be squelched by other upperclassmen. We felt important as "Big Sisters" the day that we proudly pinned our be-ribboned corsages on new freshmen. Biology brought many diverse experiences — especially the ill-fated day when we scrunched our eyes shut, grit our teeth, and with icy determination, plunged our hand into a jar of sodden worms.

In junior year we looked forward to the usual status symbols of wearing grey uniforms, attending more dances, and sitting to the left of the seniors. Classes became more intense and time consuming and our faces often wore a haggard look as we fought the Civil War in American History, studied the Ecumenical Councils (perhaps by watching a certain thirteen week TV presentation) and muddled through Algebra II until the long-awaited day that we received our class rings.

As seniors we had arrived. The year was one of many changes: we were the last to wear the grey uniforms and klunkies as the colorful plaids and pleats introduced the "new look"; we greeted Sister Aquinata and Sister Paulita, and marveled that we should have the largest language lab in the Mid-West. We learned that the fastest way to travel between two rooms was a straight line. We laughed with Father Conleth and Sister Loyola. We shared things too — laughter, joy and even anxiety while awaiting the historic flight of Colonel John Glenn. We watched the stirring movie "War and Peace," enjoyed Senior dress-up day early in November, and took College Boards. We sought out guidance and made the final decision between college and a business career. Time sped by, leaving us excited and more than a little sad as graduation day approached. Together we had shared, we had studied, we had matured. Together we also understood that we were beginning another important phase of our lives.

Fleabag,
Have a nice summer. I hope you see "West Side Story" a few hundred times. Good luck!
Pat x.

Dear Wanda,
I'll never forget English class. I'll never forget those Drama club meetings (President!) I'll see you this summer and B E G O O D.
Luv Marlene

Dear Panda,
I hope you can forgive me for giving you all the trouble I gave you. Good luck in future years and I hope to see you next year at Nazareth.
Barb Petuk

Dear Wanda,

Do remember me through the summer and I'll remember you.
Do not get married in this short span of summer vacation.
Do not drown while you are swimming round and round in Cicero's pool.
Do not get a nice hot sunburn, but
Do get a nice even tan.
Do come back next year to N.A.
Do have your locker near mine so I can slam it.
Do have some classes with me so you can help me in my geometry, biology, and English
Do have a real swell summer
Do learn how to drive so we can pick up Barb P. and go out on the town some nice sunny Day not Night.

Love ya,
Maryann
P.S. I'll be calling you after working hours

Dear Penelope,
Fleabag, Wanda, and good friend,
Good luck in all your...
Have a wonderful time this summer
and remember me
when you're back at school.
Love always,
Kim

Dear Wanda,
Good luck at
N.A. next year.
Hope we are in classes next year.
Love ya,
Frannie

Dear Wanda,
Have a nice summer. Keep cool.
Hope to see you next year.
Love,
Joanne

HA, HA, Ha, Ha, Ha, Ha, Ha
Dear Wanda, Good luck in the future years. Hope we have classes together.
Love,
Joanne

Dear Chris,

Well, we're almost seniors, thank goodness! I wish I could have had you in some of my classes this year - but maybe next year, uh? I'll never forget our crowded bus rides home with you saving the seats. Good luck with you know who at skating. Stay as sweet as you are and that's pretty sweet!

Love,
Kathy (Z.)

Dear Chris,

Remember our tiresome typing classes with the Columnar Headings. Best of Luck to you always.

Love,
Eileen
Sadkowski

Dear Chris,

One thing you can't forget about this year is Rel. with Peter. However, the rest of the year was O.K. I hope next year will have its fond memories as this year.

Love
